Hand-Inlaid Sterling Silver

At the age of twelve, Dan Gwynn learned the art of silver inlay from his father.

Dan hand-cuts each sterling silver wildlife design using a jewelers saw, he then inlays the silver into the pocket knife handle.

Each design is hand-cut from sterling silver using a jewelers saw.

The design is then routed out of the hardwood, bone or antler.

The sterling silver design is secured into the routed out area.

Each piece goes through a final sanding and buffing process.
